

Accounting for Electricians

“While clients expect you to install power points, down lights, dimmers, data cabling and new mains – many electricians fail to give bookkeeping and tax the attention they deserve. While GST, BAS and tax payments often represent some of the largest financial obligations for a self employed electrician, many end up paying too much tax and incur fines for non-compliance.”

Malcolm Wells - Director

Running a domestic or commercial electrical business can be tough. Apart from the physical demands of the job you also need to contend with safety issues, long hours, travel, emergency call outs, heavy regulations and ongoing training.

Here at Hyde Cooper Wells we understand the mechanics of running an electrical business. Over the years, Malcolm Wells and his team of accountants have mentored dozens of electricians through the various stages of their business life cycle – from start up right through to sale. Apart from the usual small business compliance issues of GST, BAS, PAYG and superannuation, we assist electricians with managing their cash flow and selecting the right software to prepare quotes, invoices and manage their payroll and sub-contractors. We offer you experience, technical tax knowledge and most importantly, an intimate understanding of your trade.

Thinking Of Starting An Electrical Business?

As a business start-up specialist we offer you a comprehensive range of services and have also developed a number of practical tools to help you make the right opening moves. Our start up expense checklist will help you identify all your potential establishment costs including tools, equipment, IT expenses and marketing costs. These figures then automatically feed into a cash flow budget template and let us produce a profit and loss forecast for your first year of trading.

Accounting for Electricians
