"When you finally get your accreditation it's only the beginning of the journey! Each year you will be required to have your financials prepared and audited. That audit process is required to maintain your accreditation and here at Hyde Cooper Wells Accountants we are totally across the reporting requirements. We understand the scoring process in order to maintain your registration and ensure ongoing funding."

Malcolm Wells - Director

Here at Hyde Cooper Wells Accounting we deal with a number of Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) and providers of quality-assured and nationally recognised training and qualifications.

Understandably, it is a highly regulated industry and establishing an RTO is quite a process. You need an understanding of the Australian Quality Training Framework and the registration procedures. You must satisfy quality assured national standards and can be eligible to apply for State and Commonwealth Government funding.

The costs involved in becoming a RTO range from registration and renewal fees, compliance and infrastructure costs and the purchase of training packages and relevant training and assessment resources. Any organisation applying to become an RTO, or renewing registration must pay an application fee to the relevant state or territory registration body and there are so many other fees including accreditation fees, registration fees and audit fees.

If you're thinking of starting your own registered training organisation there are numerous issues to consider. As business start-up specialists we can help you with everything from your branding to your business structure, site selection, commercial lease, corporate brochure, business plan and cash flow budget. One of our biggest points of difference compared to other accounting firms is our marketing expertise and we believe marketing could be the difference between gloom and boom for most RTO's. We can assist you with your branding, website design and construction and even help you with the production of your videos and social media campaigns. You'll find we are not your average firm of accountants who just 'keep the score' and we are here to help you accelerate your business and financial success.

Accounting for Registered Training Organisations

"Your marketing could be the difference between gloom and boom and one of our biggest points of difference compared to traditional accounting firms is our marketing expertise. We view the tax return and compliance as the start of the client process, not the end and we aim to simplify the bookkeeping function so together we can spend more time working on your business and your marketing."
